Introduction

These guidelines describe the University of the Arctic (UArctic) operational structure as developed to reflect the goals set out in the UArctic Strategic Plan 2020. This document describes the operational areas of UArctic that report to the President, and that are under the responsibility of the Board of UArctic. This document does not address UArctic’s governance system (i.e. Board, Assembly and their committees and advisory groups) as these are defined in the UArctic Bylaws.

This document is approved by UArctic’s Board, with non-substantive edits able to be made by the President in conjunction with the Senior Leadership Team (Ma-Mawi).

UArctic Operational Structure

UArctic is governed by its Board and its Assembly of members, which provide strategic leadership and the voice of our members respectively. UArctic's Board is our highest governing body and has general responsibility for UArctic’s strategic development and setting main priorities, including finances and staffing. The Assembly of UArctic is represented by each member of UArctic, which oversees our program development and the direction of the organization. The Assembly also acts as a forum of consultation, networking and cooperation between all members.

As defined in the Bylaws, the President and the UArctic International Secretariat form the core of UArctic’s administration. Additional administrative capacity is overseen by the President, in consultation with the Board and the Assembly.

The Bylaws set the overall principles for UArctic administration including frames for how Board decisions related to the President and daily leadership of UArctic are made. The Board and Assembly, as well as their respective committees and advisory groups have their own rules of procedure that describe their operation and meetings (those rules are not covered in this document). The roles and functions of all UArctic Vice-Presidents are further defined in this document.

UArctic operational structure consists of management bodies, which are inclusive of leadership, coordination, implementation, and administrative functions. All management bodies shall follow the principles laid out in this document and UArctic Bylaws, when implementing the UArctic Strategic Plan and Strategic Implementation Plan.

For some activities there exist supplementary operational documents that guide specific parts of UArctic implementation and operation. Management bodies may develop their own procedures and rules as long as they are consistent with other parts of UArctic governance and organizational rules and procedures.

UArctic’s Governance bodies defined elsewhere:

- The Assembly of UArctic (Assembly) formerly know as the Council, this body consists of representatives of all UArctic member institutions and organizations.

- The Board of UArctic (Board) consists of at least nine and not more than fifteen members including the Chair, who are elected by the Assembly to serve in their personal capacities and act on behalf of UArctic.

- Council Executive Committee (Toyon) consists of the Assembly Officers (i.e. Assembly Chair, Vice-Chair, and Secretary) and the Chairs of individual Assembly Committees.

Other UArctic’s bodies defined in this document:

UArctic has a number of different management bodies, with various functional purposes including leadership, coordination, implementation, and administration;

- Senior Leadership Team (Ma-Mawi) is led by the UArctic President and consists of all UArctic Vice-Presidents.

1 Toyon, Pronounced ‘toi-òn, this word comes from the Yakut language where it means “chief.”

2 From the Ojibwa language, meaning, “We all work together to help one another”. The Ojibwa, or Chippewa, language is the second most commonly spoken First Nations language in Canada.
• Leadership Teams are led by a Vice-President and consist of relevant Directors and other leaders under their area of responsibility.

• Thematic Networks organize joint education, research, or other networking activities engaging faculty and researchers, and is the main tool for academic and research experts to cooperate in UArctic.

• UArctic Institutes are independent entities shared between two or more members that carry out UArctic relevant activities in a specific field.

• Services and Service Networks organize and implement shared activities that serve and promote UArctic members, support cooperation and provide key organizational functionality in UArctic. May consist of either individual leaders or teams (networks).

• UArctic International Secretariat (Secretariat) is led by the Vice-President Organization, as the Board appointed Head of the UArctic International Secretariat. The Secretariat has support responsibilities defined in the Bylaws. The governance support functions of the Secretariat are organised as UArctic Services.

• Task Forces, Planning Teams, Project Groups are shorter term teams that implement a specific project, follow up specific cooperation action, or contribute to strategic development of UArctic.

• Ofelas is a joint discussion group consisting of members from Toyon and Ma-Mawi.

Distributed Organization and Management

UArctic’s Organization and Management structure should at any time be able to optimally respond to the tasks given by the UArctic Strategic Plan and the Strategic Implementation Plan. The Board has agreed to some strategic choices on our structure which includes:

• UArctic organization, management and implementation shall be organized in a manner that engages and involves the members directly in all activities.

• UArctic’s operations and management are distributed among its members.

• The basic entities of UArctic’s activities are Thematic Networks, UArctic Institutes, UArctic Services/Service Networks, as well as Leadership Teams, Task Forces and Project Groups.

• Leadership roles are primarily the President, Vice-Presidents, and leaders of Thematic Networks, UArctic Institutes, and Services / Service Networks.

• UArctic and the member institution(s) hosting any leadership or management body shall have a formal agreement with UArctic describing the role, and regulating its function, finances available, support staff, and other conditions.

• Any UArctic leadership or management position hosted by a member shall, beyond serving UArctic, also be an asset to the host institution.

• Strategic leadership and advice is provided primarily from the Board, but also directly from Members via the Assembly and committees appointed by the Assembly.

Language and Acronyms

Respecting and promoting language plurality is a core value for UArctic. English and Russian are the second language for most northerners. For practical purposes UArctic has chosen English as the common working language, and will further strive to make all essential information available in Russian. However, UArctic encourages education, information and communication in all northern languages.

UArctic discourages the use of acronyms. Instead, whenever possible, UArctic governance and management bodies are encouraged to find a relevant name from a (small) northern language that can serve as an acronym. This is done to show respect for the diversity of languages and cultures in the Circumpolar Region. These names are collected into a list on the UArctic website and are used in the same way acronyms naturally would be used in communication. Further, the norm is that full titles and names are to be used in documents and communication instead of acronyms for clarity and transparency.

Responsibilities and Decision-making

This section describes daily management responsibilities and operations for structures under the responsibility of the UArctic President.

i. The fundamental principle of distributed operations of UArctic activities imply that all UArctic leaders shall have a strong sense of UArctic’s values, ensure transparency in leadership, and proactive engagement supporting collaboration and coordination with other parts of UArctic.

ii. The President is accountable to the Board for the overall leadership of UArctic.

iii. Vice-Presidents are delegated full responsibility for their areas. Vice-Presidents shall in particular foster the leadership culture among leaders and relevant management bodies in implementing their work, and take necessary actions for changes in structure and the mandate of their area of operation when relevant.

iv. The President and Vice-Presidents will normally decide by consensus on all major matters in the Senior Leadership Team (Ma-Mawi).

v. Leads of Thematic Networks, UArctic Institutes, Services/Service Networks and other bodies are responsible for the daily operations of their areas of responsibility and shall ensure that they operate according to agreed work plans and mandates, and shall seek coordination and collaboration to foster a strong UArctic network.

vi. Each Vice-President may form a Leadership Team consisting of relevant leaders and other appointed experts if relevant to support decision making in their area.

vii. Vice-Presidents may receive strategic support from high level advisory groups or committees appointed by the Board or Assembly (e.g. Indigenous Issues Committee, Board Finance Policy Advisory Group).

viii. The President and Vice-Presidents shall have a deputy, and for longer term absence there can be appointed persons to act in the role. Ma-Mawi can make decisions on acting and deputies.

UArctic Senior Leadership

UArctic President: Under the direction of the Board, the President serves as the chief executive officer of UArctic and is responsible for its overall administration and the development and delivery of its activities. The President may form such committees or other subsidiary bodies as he or she deems necessary to carry out the administrative activities of UArctic. In the daily operations of UArctic, the President chairs Ma-Mawi, follows up the work of Ma-Mawi members, and has a particular responsibility for new initiatives and oversees UArctic’s external relations.

Vice-President Academic: The Vice-President Academic has strategic leadership for UArctic’s academic affairs and activities, including the approval / endorsement of undergraduate and graduate education, the Circumpolar Studies curriculum and other UArctic collective education initiatives, to stimulate development and promotion of shared education programs, UArctic education support services, as well as new education and training related activities. The Vice-President Academic has a specific responsibility to engage the Assembly to strengthen academic cooperation among our members.

Vice-President Research: The Vice-President Research has the strategic leadership for UArctic’s research related activities, with focus on support and promotion of research cooperation within UArctic, and working for the interests of UArctic members in Arctic research. The Vice-President Research is also responsible for the overall strategic leadership of Thematic Networks and UArctic Institutes, even if their respective activities often address education, outreach and other networking activities in addition to research cooperation.

Vice-President Organization: The Vice-President Organization is appointed by the Board as Head of the UArctic International Secretariat, and is responsible for the day-to-day administrative activities of UArctic, and for providing support to UArctic’s governance bodies. The Vice-President Organization has the strategic leadership for UArctic as a membership organization, and oversees member support services (except those related to education and research). Furthermore, the Vice-President Organization is responsible for UArctic Communication services, support to UArctic’s governance system, overall administration, and maintaining planning and reporting routines, including the collection of membership fees. Vice-President Organization has overall responsibility for the coordination of the UArctic brand.

Vice-President Indigenous

The Vice-President Indigenous has the strategic leadership for ensuring that indigenous perspectives are included across UArctic’s activity areas, and for ensuring that UArctic partners with, and contributes to, the well-being of northern indigenous communities. In particular, the Vice-President Indigenous ensures that UArctic adheres to its goals and values concerning diversity and reciprocity, and the importance of traditional knowledge in our activities, and our efforts to promote northern relevant education and research in and for the peoples of the North. The Vice-President Indigenous also serves as Secretary of the Council’s Indigenous Issues Committee and shall collaborate closely with the Permanent Participants of the Arctic Council.

Vice-President Interregional Cooperation

The Vice-President Interregional Cooperation has the strategic leadership to ensure UArctic’s commitment to circumpolarity by supporting the participation and engagement of all Russian members in UArctic activities. The Vice-President Interregional Cooperation shall in particular ensure that UArctic leaders located in both Russia and “the West” get increased insight in education and research systems and opportunities on “both sides”. The Vice-President Interregional Cooperation also supports UArctic’s relations with federal and regional authorities in Russia, and for providing other Vice-Presidents with advice and support for the development of UArctic’s research and education efforts within Russia and good East-West partnership.

Vice-President Finance, Development and Engagement

The Vice-President Finance, Development and Engagement has the strategic leadership for UArctic’s economic development. The primary focus is development initiatives to encourage and support Arctic and northern public engagement activities amongst member institutions. The Vice-President provides support and encourages communication and collaboration amongst members for creation, sharing and application of new public engagement initiatives. Further, the Vice-President brokers’ partnerships and collaborations that connect public engagement to excellence in Northern research, scholarship and creativity. The Vice-President serves as secretary of the Board’s Finance Policy Advisory Group, leading the overall financial planning and reporting functions, while supporting the Board in its overall fundraising responsibility.

Vice-President Mobility

The Vice-President Mobility has the strategic leadership for all UArctic mobility related activities, and mobility cooperation in and with the North. The primary focus is the development of partnerships and for providing endorsement to northern relevant mobility initiatives. In particular, the Vice-President Mobility leads fundraising efforts that focus on mobility cooperation, and ensure that appropriate processes are in place to collect information on all mobility activity between UArctic member institutions and provides annual overviews. With overall leadership of the UArctic mobility expert team, the Vice-President Mobility keeps close connections with Thematic Networks and UArctic Institutes to identify needs and partners to find mobility solutions.

UArctic Operational Leadership

UArctic has operational leaders in three categories:

- Leaders of Thematic Networks and UArctic Institutes who lead academic and research focussed cooperation in UArctic.
- Leaders of Service Networks and UArctic Services lead institutional cooperation activities and UArctic administrative and operational functions.
- UArctic Task Forces and Project Group leaders.

Operational leaders shall have titles in accordance with their duties and role, as specified by Ma-Mawi and the Vice-President to whom they report. These titles may be defined in the relevant management body’s rules of procedure, as necessary. Leaders of Thematic Networks, UArctic Institutes, and Services/Service Networks shall have one or more deputy (vice-leaders); deputies may also be appointed for other leader functions. The appointment of all leaders and vice-leaders are approved by Ma-Mawi.
All leaders shall:

- Lead and oversee the operation of the body they lead
- Oversee the work of any sub-units, if relevant
- Take initiative towards, and engage members of the body they lead to develop funding applications that help implement the activities of the body.
- Ensure that students, experts, and other persons participating in the activity are treated appropriately and ensure adequate internal communication.
- Ensure that all results, outcomes, events, etc. are reported through UArctic news, and shall strive to include news on associated activities.
- Ensure active coordination and cooperation with other UArctic bodies.
- Take overall planning, reporting, and evaluation responsibility for the body, and ensure that reporting within UArctic is done as required
- Ensure that activities are also reported as required by host institution(s)
- Manage personnel decisions within the body, if relevant, in cooperation with the Vice-President.
- Establish cooperation with bodies outside UArctic to support and complement development and delivery
- Maintain active communication with all relevant Vice-Presidents and the President.
- Represent UArctic and act on behalf of UArctic on matters belonging to their area of responsibility in a transparent and cooperative manner.
- Participate by sharing relevant information with other leaders.

Leadership Teams

Leadership Teams are bodies for decision-making, coordination and implementation over particular responsibility areas, and exist at various levels. Ma-Mawi is composed of the President and Vice-Presidents. The Academic, Research, and Organization Leadership Teams are led by their respective Vice-Presidents and are composed of the leaders of relevant responsibility areas. The Thematic Networks Leadership Team is led by the Director of Thematic Networks, and composed of the leaders of individual Thematic Networks and UArctic Institutes. Not all Vice-Presidents have Leadership Teams, but some are instead supported by governance committees and advisory groups, as appropriate.

Ma-Mawi, Senior Leadership Team

Together, the President and Vice-Presidents form UArctic’s Senior Leadership Team (Ma-Mawi). The team is responsible for providing strategic leadership and overall coordination of UArctic’s operational activities, and for ensuring their development and delivery. Ma-Mawi meetings are held on a regular basis, and meetings may include the participation of Directors or other leaders when needed.

Members: President and all Vice-Presidents

UArctic Academic Leadership Team

Oversees activities related to academic development, including UArctic’s endorsement of academic programs and courses, maintenance of commonly developed curricula like the Circumpolar Studies, and delivery of UArctic commonly organised academic offerings.

Members: Vice-President Academic and relevant leaders of Services/Service Networks and selected Thematic Network leaders.

UArctic Research Leadership Team

Oversees activities related to research collaboration, support, and strategic leadership on research policy and strategy development. The Research Leadership Team has primary responsibility for the research activities of Thematic Networks and UArctic Institutes.

Members: Vice-President Research and selected leaders of Thematic Networks, Institutes, Services/Service Networks.
UArctic Organization Leadership Team
Has overall responsibility for the organizational functions and services that support the UArctic member network as a whole, including its governance bodies, networking and cooperation, and information management.

Members: Vice-President Organization and relevant leaders of Services/Service Networks.

Thematic Networks Leadership Team
Oversees the activities of all Thematic Networks and UArctic Institutes; promotes cross-network cooperation and the sharing of best practices between them.

Members: Director of Thematic Networks (chair), all Thematic Network leaders, and UArctic Institute leaders.

UArctic Bodies

Thematic Networks
UArctic's Thematic Networks foster issues-based cooperation within networks that are focused but flexible enough to respond quickly to topical Arctic issues. They form a natural framework for development of UArctic education and research providing an optimal structure for increasing the knowledge generation and sharing across the North.

A UArctic Thematic Network may develop its own procedures and rules as long as it is consistent with this and other parts of UArctic governance and management rules and procedures. For a full list of Thematic Networks see http://www.uarctic.org/organization/thematic-networks/.

UArctic Institutes
UArctic Institutes are devoted to research, monitoring and education throughout the Arctic. Empowered by local knowledge and international level academic expertise, they facilitate development of multidisciplinary solutions for challenges in the Arctic.

A UArctic Institute may develop its own procedures and rules as long as it is consistent with this and other parts of UArctic governance and management rules and procedures. For a full list of UArctic Institutes see http://www.uarctic.org/organization/institutes/.

Services and Service Networks
Services and Service Networks oversee and implement organization-wide functions and support the implementation and coordination of UArctic activities across the various sub-regions and countries of the Circumpolar North and across UArctic’s membership.

UArctic Services and Service Networks are proposed by the Vice-President who oversees the relevant area of responsibility, and are approved by Ma-Mawi. They may develop their own procedures and rules as long as it is consistent with this and other parts of UArctic’s governance and management rules and procedures. See http://www.uarctic.org/organization/ for UArctic Services and Service Networks.

UArctic Task Force and Project Groups and Teams
These bodies may be created for a limited time and a specific purpose, to address needs as they arise. They are shorter term teams that implement a specific project, follow up specific cooperation action, or contribute to the strategic development of UArctic. Each will normally be defined and guided by its own Terms of Reference, consistent with UArctic Bylaws and these guidelines.

Agreements on hosting UArctic Leadership or Management Positions
UArctic’s distributed leadership and operations require agreements with the respective member institutions hosting any of the central functions. These agreements are called Memorandum of Understanding (MOUs) which are between UArctic and the individual host institution(s). The purpose of each MOU agreement is to describe and define the terms, staffing, roles and responsibilities, conditions for the hosting of the UArctic operation and/or function, setting legal frames and requirements, and to regulate duties and rights of all parties concerned. These MOUs are normally made for 3-year renewable term, and the standard period for termination notice is 12 months.

The UArctic International Secretariat ensures that all MOUs are developed, maintained and kept valid, while the Board of UArctic is regularly informed of the status, changes and additions of UArctic agreements.
