

CS 332 Table of Contents

1. Module 1: Comparative Policy Analysis and the Circumpolar North
 - 1.1 Importance of Policy
 - 1.2 Interaction Between Policy Makers
 - 1.3 Policy Analysis: A Basic Framework
 - 1.4 Policy Analysis and the Comparative Method
 - 1.5 Conclusion

2. Module 2: Framework: Citizenship, Institutions and Participation in Policy Making
 - 2.1. Comparing Political Systems
 - 2.2. Federal and Unitary Systems
 - 2.3 Citizenship Rights, Laws, Constitutions and Democracy Among the Arctic States
 - 2.3.1 Prerequisites of Democracies
 - 2.3.2 Constitutions and Democracy
 - 2.4 Forms of Political Participation: Civil Society, Political Parties and Elections Among the Arctic Countries
 - 2.4.1 Civic Society and Political Participation
 - 2.5 Governance Institutions Among the Arctic States: Branches and Levels of Government
 - 2.5.1 Legislatures, Executives and the Courts
 - 2.5.2 Sub-National Levels of Government
 - 2.5.3. High North Politics and International Cooperation

3. Module 3: Multilevel Governance
 - 3.0 Introduction
 - 3.1 Governance and Multilevel Governance: A Conceptual Overview
 - 3.2 A Typology of Multilevel Governance
 - 3.3 Vertical Multilevel Governance
 - 3.4 Horizontal Multilevel Governance
 - 3.5 State-Centered and Indigenous Multilevel Governance
 - 3.6 Indigenous Autonomy in the Circumpolar North
 - 3.7 Nested Federalism in Russia and Canada
 - 3.8 Greenlandic Home Rule

4. Module 4: International Law in the Arctic
 - 4.1 The Nature and Role of International Law and its Impact on Domestic Policies
 - 4.2. Acquiring Sovereignty Over Arctic Land Space
 - 4.3 International Ownership Systems in the Arctic
 - 4.4 Law of the Sea in the Arctic
 - 4.5 Maritime Jurisdiction in the Arctic
 - 4.6 Regulation of Ocean Uses: Examples of Fishing and Shipping
 - 4.7 International Environmental Law in the Arctic
 - 4.8 International Trade Law in the Arctic
 - 4.9 International Law and Arctic Indigenous Peoples

5. Module 5: Indigenous Policy in the Circumpolar North
 - 5.1 Types of Policies Concerning Indigenous Peoples
 - 5.1.1 Political Autonomy
 - 5.1.2 Cultural and Language Rights

5.1.3 Economic Rights

- 5.2 Developing Lines of Domestic Policies for Indigenous Peoples
- 5.3 Methodological Changes: TEK
- 5.4 Intersection of Policy Sectors
- 5.5 Rovaniemi Code of Conduct
- 5.6 Different Forms of Indigenous Self-Rule in the Circumpolar North
- 5.7 Greenland Home Rule
- 5.8 Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act
- 5.9 The Creation of Canada's Nunavut
- 5.10 The Sami Parliament
- 5.11 The "Small-Numbered Peoples" and RAIPON
- 5.12 Similarities and Difference in Indigenous Policies in the Circumpolar World

6. Module 6: Social Policy in the Circumpolar North

- 6.1 Introduction: The Links Between Social Policy and Other Policies in the Circumpolar North
- 6.2 The Concept of Social Policy: Welfare Policy and Equalization
- 6.3 A Social Problem – What Is It?
- 6.4 Emergence of the Welfare State: Welfare Policy and Equalization Policy
- 6.5 The Concept of the Welfare State
- 6.6 Welfare State Models
- 6.7 Welfare States Are Changing
- 6.8 Social Policy for the High North: Common Challenges
- 6.9 Social Problems in the High North
- 6.10 Social Policy Development in the High North

7. Module 7: Circumpolar Cooperation

- 7.1 Driving Forces for Circumpolar Cooperation
- 7.2 Forms of Indigenous Circumpolar Cooperation
- 7.3 State Sovereignty and National Borders in International Circumpolar Cooperation
- 7.4 Northern Policies, Strategies and Agendas of the Arctic States
- 7.5. The Arctic Council and the Standing Committee of Arctic Parliamentarians
- 7.6 Arctic and Circumpolar Cooperation in World Politics

8. Module 8: Gender Policy in the Circumpolar North

- 8.1 Development of Political Rights and Gender Equality In The Circumpolar North
- 8.2 Gender Inequality in Economic and Social Life with Implications for Sustainable Development in the North
- 8.3 Educational Opportunities and Impacts for Gender Equality
- 8.4 Gender Roles and Development in Indigenous Communities
- 8.5 Variations of Gender Policies and Practices in the Circumpolar North

9. Module 9: Security in the Circumpolar North

- 9.1 Environmental Security
- 9.2 Human Security
- 9.3 Traditional Security and Arms Control and Disarmament Measures
- 9.4 Energy of the Arctic States
- 9.5 Security Challenges in the Circumpolar North

10. Module 10: Environment and Resource Policy in the Circumpolar North

- 10.1 Polar Bears: An Exemplar Case
- 10.2 Environmental Impacts of Globalization and Resource Exploitation and Impacts for Traditional Stakeholders and Communities
- 10.3 Indigenous Management of Land and Resources
- 10.4 The Precautionary Principle as Policy
- 10.5 Models for Sustainable Management