Background:

Nord University will host the Arctic Congress, bringing UArctic, the International Arctic Social Sciences Association and High North Dialogue together as partners, May 29-June 3, 2024 in Bodø, Norway.

UARctic partners with the International Congress of Arctic Social Sciences (ICASS 2024) and the High North Dialogue 2024 as part of this joint event, with a common Congress program, as well as each organization's individual Assembly and business meetings. In addition to the Assembly, UArctic meetings will include a Rectors Roundtable, side-meetings for north2north, individual Thematic Networks, and others.

This will be a showcase of Arctic cooperation, and will reduce travel expenses and time for many participants who would participate in both UArctic Congress, ICASS or High North Dialogue. In 2024 Bodø City is European Cultural Capital, which will provide an excellent frame for the Arctic Congress event.

Organized in conjunction with the Norwegian Arctic Council chairship program, the Arctic Congress takes its themes from those priorities: Oceans, Climate and Environment, Sustainable Economic Development, People in the North, as well as cross-cutting themes of Arctic youth and Indigenous peoples.

The website and session call will be announced at High North Dialogue 2023 in April. The abstract call will be launched in October/November, and registration open in January/February 2024.
